EVERGREEN$

21 year-old Rémi leaves his small town in Quebec for the first time to go sell Christmas trees in New York City in order to pay off a debt that threatens his future. Dumped in the heart of the Bronx, he meets Laura, a deadpan French activist, who will be his colleague for the next month. Together they will meet the vibrant community around their street corner and learn to survive the absurd trials of Christmas tree sales.

THAWING ICE

Thawing Ice is the second film by director François Péloquin and screenwriter Sarah Lévesque, who have also collaborated with Couzin Films on The Sound of Trees, selected in the official competition at the prestigious Karlovy Vary International Film Festival and awarded the Emerging Canadian Director at VIFF.

In contrast to The Sound of Trees, a coming-of-age story about a teenager during a summer in Gaspésie, Thawing Ice portrays the blossoming of a woman during a winter in Lévis. In addition to the filmmaker's established audience and new fans, its marketing can rely on three essential elements: female sexual awakening, prison/liberation films, and the psychological thriller genre.

DIARY OF A FATHER

To make up for the absence of his seven-year-old daughter who lives in Berlin, a Montreal filmmaker keeps a film diary that conjures up his relationship with his adoptive father and his biological father, whom he never knew. His film diary also becomes a reflection on filmmaking by revisiting the work of directors who have influenced him, such as Ingmar Bergman and Wim Wenders. DIARY OF A FATHER is a poetic response to help make the separation between a father and his daughter bearable.

ADVENTURES IN THE LAND OF ASHA

On a cold winter's day in 1940, little Jules moves in with his family to live with his uncle Jovite, mayor of a village in northern Quebec. Because of a rare disease he suffers from, he is quickly banned from school. His dog Flagrant becomes his only friend. But when Flagrant runs off into the forest, Jules has no choice but to venture out to find him. On the way, he meets Asha, a mysterious little girl who assures him that her mother could cure him completely of his illness. The problem is that she doesn't know where she is. Together, they decide to go in search of her, but what is at the other end of the forest is not what they imagined.

THE BUTTERFLY TALE

The heartwarming story of Patrick, a brave and lovable butterfly who, even though he is unable to fly because of a smaller wing, wants to make this great and hazardous journey no matter what. The Legend of the Butterfly is a great adventure, a quest for self-realization in the face of adversity. Told with humor, its message teaches us that our differences and limitations are strengths capable of making us go further if we stop seeing them as obstacles and accept them.

ROJEK meets incarcerated members of the Islamic State, and their wives detained in prison camps, from all over the world and sharing a common ideal: to establish a caliphate. Confronted with the fundamentalist beliefs of the jihadists, the film attempts to trace the beginning, the rise and the fall of the Islamic State (IS) through their personal stories. These conversations constitute the common thread of the documentary through which various sequences describing post-war Syrian Kurdistan intertwine.

OCEAN SEEN FROM THE HEART

For a long time, the Ocean seemed unalterable and inexhaustible, but the impact of our actions on its biodiversity and its temperature is alarming. In The Ocean Seen from the Heart, sequel to The Earth Seen from the Heart, Hubert Reeves, surrounded by passionate scientists and explorers, invites us to rediscover what threatens the ocean, and above all to explore its capacity for phenomenal regeneration. A hymn to the Living, in what is richest, most precious and necessary to preserve if we want to survive, among other species, on our blue planet.

A movie poster for the film 'Animal Kingdom'. The central image is a large, clear glass jar with a silver lid, sitting on a cracked, dry earth surface. Inside the jar, a vibrant savanna landscape is visible, featuring a large acacia tree, a herd of elephants (including a calf), and a flock of birds flying in a blue sky with white clouds. Two children, a boy and a girl, both wearing backpacks, stand with their backs to the viewer, looking into the jar. The word 'ANIMAL' is written in large, blue, serif capital letters across the middle of the jar. At the top of the jar, there is a small circular logo with a stylized animal head, and below it, the text 'FESTIVAL DE CANNES' and 'SÉLECTION OFFICIELLE 2021'.

Bella and Vipulan are 16 years old, a generation convinced that their future is threatened. Climate change, the 6th mass extinction of species... within 50 years their world could become uninhabitable.

They may have warned, but nothing has really changed. So they decided to go to the source of the problem: our relationship with the living world.

Under the guidance of the primatologist Jane Goodall, throughout an extraordinary journey, they will understand that we are deeply linked to all other species.

And that by saving them, we will also save ourselves. The human being believed that he could separate himself from nature, but he is nature. He too is an Animal.

HUMUS

With the humility now required by the degree of planetary destruction, a couple of market gardeners are working to implement the great principles of nature in their gardens, in search of a new alliance with the living. Old and new knowledge guides them on this path, knowledge that reaffirms the complexity of an interdependent world, the result of billions of years of coevolution.

BIGGER THAN US

Aged 18 to 25, they have changed laws, built schools, mobilized women, men and children by the thousands. On every corner of the planet, the youth dare to dream, experiment and live big. When everyone, every institution around them have failed.

Growing inequality, food, climate and migration crises, corruption... We know the data, the facts, the evidence. Most solutions already exist. Everything is on the table, except our will to change.

This might be the most important story ever. One of a deep change, universal and accessible to all, if we pay attention.

BEING AND BECOMING

The film explores the theme of trusting children and their development, and invites us to question our learning paradigms and options. The filmmaker takes us on a journey of discovery through the US, France, the UK and Germany (where it's illegal not to go to school). We meet parents who have made the choice of not schooling their children, neither at school nor at home, but of letting them learn freely what they are truly passionate about. It is a quest for truth about the innate desire to learn. It belongs to a wider theme than education, connected to a change in our belief system and to our society's evolution, as well as to the importance of reclaiming one's life and self-confidence.

CALL ME HUMAN

"Sauvage," says Joséphine Bacon, "means to be wholly free." When elders leave us, a link to the past vanishes along with them. Innu writer Joséphine Bacon exemplifies a generation that is bearing witness to a time that will soon have passed away. With charm and diplomacy, she leads a charge against the loss of a language, a culture, and its traditions. On the trail of Papakassik, the master of the caribou, Call Me Human proposes a foray into a people's multimillennial history, in company with a woman of great spirit who has devoted her life to passing on her knowledge and that of her ancestors. In her language, Innu means "human."

In fall 2018, the Orchestre Symphonique de Montréal created the chamber opera Chaakapesh, a lighthearted story of the hero who founded the Innu people sung in three languages (Innu, Cree and Inuktitut) by Florent Volland, Ernest Webb and Akinisie Sivuarapik. The orchestra then went on the road to perform the unique work in Quebec's Far North, stopping in Kuujuaq, Salluit, Kuujuarapik, Ujé-Bougoumou, Mashteuiatsh and Malinotnam. Far more than just a concert film, Chaakapesh puts the audience front row centre as artists and communities come together in a remarkable cultural space. Poignant testimonials, important discussions and Maestro Nagano as we've never seen him before.

CITY DREAMERS

City Dreamers is a film about our changing urban environment and four trailblazing women architects who have been working, observing and thinking about the transformations shaping the cities of today and tomorrow for over 70 years. The film is inspired by what has united these four women throughout their careers: the “dream” of a fundamentally human and inclusive city.

ENTANGLED POWERS

For the last two decades, in many parts of the world, religious and political powers grew closer, much too close in the eyes of many. A direct consequence of this is that, in those places, women's rights are highly affected and weakened. In many Arabic countries, women have lost their liberties, harshly acquired in the middle of the 20th century. Meanwhile in Western countries, under a certain appearance of liberty, women's rights are more and more under the influence of very strong traditional currents.

LET IT BE LAW

In Argentina, one woman dies every week as the result of illegal abortions. In 2018, for the seventh time, a motion supporting legal, secure and free abortion was presented to the National Congress. The project provoked a fierce debate, revealing a society divided more than ever between the pro-life and freedom to choose positions. Through an assemblage of passionate testimonies, LET IT BE LAW documents the determination of women fighting bravely to secure the right to physical self-determination, and bears witness to their massive mobilization in the streets of Buenos Aires.

WOMAN

While filming Human, Anastasia Mikovia and Yann Arthus-Bertrand recorded footage of women around the world. That is where Woman began – an ambitious film with more than 2500 portraits of women from 50 countries. On a very sparse set, they candidly discuss work, social issues, body image, sexuality, motherhood, desire and, sadly, violence. In the post-#metoo era, this feature documentary is an essential panorama that reveals how women see the world today. With an admiring but unsensational eye on its subjects, Woman is an affectionate, honest take on women.

PHI 1.618

Phi 1.618 tells the story of a new nation of eternal, biologically perfect humans, the Bio-Titans, who are preparing to leave Earth forever on a mission aboard the starship Whirligig. In this utopian reality, the protagonists Gargara and Krypton will try to fight against the announced outcome and to reverse history. They will live various adventures in a constant race against time and in the eternal battle between love and evil, humanity and unscrupulousness.

DAYS OF HAPPINESS

Emma is a young conductor and rising star on the Montreal scene. Days of Happiness chronicles her complex relationship with her father and agent Patrick, who has maintained a devious hold on her since childhood. The possibility of an important position with a prestigious orchestra only raises the stakes for Emma. She will have to give way to her true emotions and make choices, both for her music and for herself, if she is to navigate her career and her romantic relationship with Naëlle, a newly separated cellist and mother of a young boy.

NORTH OF ALBANY

Annie leaves Montreal with her two children in a hurry, heading for the United States. There is an obvious tension between the mother and her young teenager, which leads us to believe that a mysterious event is behind their hasty departure. After their car breaks down near a tiny village in the Adirondacks, the family is stranded there awaiting repairs that cannot be made until after the long American Thanksgiving vacation. To Annie's dismay, Paul, a single father and the only garage owner in town, has no intention of working during this "sacred" time. But Annie's stubbornness in wanting to leave at all costs will end up setting up a duality between her and Paul, as corrosive as it is unexpected. Will this duality bring down the masks and eventually reveal the true intentions of these two souls on the run?

THE COMPANIONS

At 19, passionate about street art, Naëlle is forced to follow a reintegration project with other young people, her last chance to avoid being separated from her loved ones. Touched by the young girl, Hélène, the site manager and her instructor, introduces her one day to the Maison des Compagnons de Nantes, a world of traditions that promotes craftsmanship excellence and transmission between generations. Alongside Paul, a companion stained glass artist who agrees to take her for training in his studio, Naëlle discovers a universe with codes very different from hers that could give new meaning despite her difficulties in life. Naëlle will carve a place for herself in the fascinating world of stained glass and will realize that the Companions' values are not just empty words.

OLD BUDDIES

Old friends, realized by Claude Gagnon, with and star Patrick Labbé in the role of Pierrot. The latter returns to his hometown of Saint-Hyacinthe after having lived a good part of his life abroad. Far from being a trivial visit, Pierrot comes instead to announce his imminent death to his relatives. To complete the loop, he will ask for the support of his childhood friend Jacques, camped by Paul Doucet. Together, they will find peace in this overwhelmingly beautiful film.

ADULTS IN THE ROOM

For his 19th feature film, the Franco-Greek director continues his critical work, filming in his native land for the very first time. In this modern Greek tragedy, Costa Gavras paints a feverish, unrelenting portrait of the economic and diplomatic crisis that gripped Greece in 2015. By adapting the controversial memoirs of former Greek finance minister Yanis Varoufakis, who spent six months developing a negotiation and financial rescue plan for the country, the 86-year-old director exposes the scheming and manipulation that went on behind the scenes of an unprecedented and painful episode of political theatre.

ALEXANDRE THE FOOL

Ten years after a psychotic event on the South China Sea flipped his life upside down, Alex, a sensitive, refined and schizophrenic man is at a crossroads. His grand-mother and confidant, who would like to die the soul in peace, insists that he tries to find a girlfriend. His encounter with a young psychotic woman gives birth to an ardently passionate relationship, making him slowly drift away from his usual emotional boundaries. While the troubled waters of the South China Sea well up in his mind, he gradually isolates himself, at risk of being swallowed by paranoia's unfathomable abyss. An intimate odyssey, troubling and sublime.

Colette's husband commits suicide, and she feels terrible guilt for not having been at his side when he died. Her daughter Gabrielle lives in an emotional turmoil. Suffering from bulimia, she has to work as an escort to feed her disorder, and after abandoning college, leads a life without purpose or meaning. Joseph is a master lecturer on Dutch philosopher Spinoza at a university in Belgium. He is invited to Montreal to participate in a debate on Spinoza and his philosophy, but his life is not as serene as it seems and his marriage is rocky. These three bereaved characters will collide, and their respective lives will be changed forever.

Stéphane moves to Paris to flee his past. The death of a former comrade brings back memories of his transformation from a middle-class youth with conventional aspirations to a radicalized activist with dangerous ties. Stéphane returns to Corsica for his friend's funeral, knowing that this trip could cost him his life. ## LAUGHTER

As a civil war shakes the province of Quebec in Canada, Valerie is the sole survivor of a mass execution in which her boyfriend is killed. Years later, she's in a close relationship with her new partner, Gabriel. At the Long Term Care Center where she works as an orderly, she befriends Jeanne, a well-read and funny woman, dealing with an important physical handicap.

Mixing realism and disturbing strangeness, Laughter presents a humane exploration of the survivor's syndrome, the grieving process, the distance of time, the power of love, and the joy of being alive.

NADIA, BUTTERFLY

Nadia, 22, swims for Canada at the Olympic Games. The ultimate realization of her life of sacrifice. However, she'll retire after the Games to get a "real" life going. After her very last race, Nadia drifts confusingly into nights of excess punctuated by episodes of self-doubt. But even this momentary numbness cannot conceal her fears and her true inner quest: defining her identity outside the world of elite sports.

OUR OWN

When faced with life's challenges, Ste-Adeline's community has always stuck together. But this time, a scandal sends shockwaves through the quiet little town's very foundation, testing its inhabitants. At the center of the storm is Magalie, a teenager with a girlish pout; Manuel, the foster child of the beloved mayor; and Isabelle and Chantale, the powerless yet protective mothers. In Ste-Adeline, appearances are deceptive. And the town's carefully maintained social veneer will come to crack, slowly revealing the true nature of its residents.

REAL LOVE

Mario, a man without much ambition, except for love, is back to square one after his wife left home. He now must raise on his own his two daughters going through their teenage years and through some sort of a teenage crisis of his own. Frida, 14 years old, blames her father for their mother's absence and she develops ambivalent feelings towards her new girlfriend. Niki, 17 years old, will soon leave home. Until then, she lives the good life. Mario can't help but lose the women he loves. Yet they must all agree to let one another go. Can accepting to lose someone eventually lead to finding oneself?

THE 12 TASKS OF IMELDA

Imelda, a larger-than-life character inspired by the director's own grandmother, is a notary's widow who lives in Gentilly, where she exercises a certain control over her family. With her landmark 100th birthday fast approaching, she's restless, with old scores still to settle before any celebrations can begin. Structured as 12 'chapters' chronicling her late years, Imelda faces a bucket-list of challenges exploring the ties that bind a family together. When that last Exit door must finally be walked through, will Imelda ever be able to leave in peace?

Chokri's second feature after A Brother's Love, which opened Cannes Un Certain Regard in 2019 and shared the jury's Coup de Coeur prize with The Climb.

Patrick Hivon, who also co-starred in A Brother's Love, plays a man who loses his job after a sexist joke he makes goes viral on social media. He subsequently signs up for therapy to overcome his sexism and underlying misogyny.

Chokri plays his long-suffering partner, who finds herself exasperated by his narcissistic introspection and dreams of fresh horizons and adventures. The arrival of a mysterious and liberated babysitter in her 20s, played by rising French actress Nadia Tereszkiewicz, brings a fresh and unsettling perspective to the situation.

WELCOME TO THE JUNGLE

French Guyana, not so long ago. Elliott, a young and naive anthropology researcher, goes on an expedition to study the Otopis, a mysterious tribe from the Amazon rainforest. It is also an opportunity for him to get away from the grip of his possessive mother, Chantal de Bellabre, an ethnologist hated by the profession for her biased and cold-hearted practices. Arriving in the forest Elliott realizes the Otopis are not the "good savages" he had imagined. Alcoholic, violent, crooked: they will turn his expedition into real hell in the jungle. Fortunately, Chantal, consumed by remorse and worried about her son, decides to abandon her own expedition and goes looking for him in the jungle, with the help of the not so helpful Lieutenant-Commander Raspailles and his men.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

On the dawn of the 20th century, a young William Lyon Mackenzie King negotiates the obstacles on his path on the way to becoming prime minister of his beloved Canada. Then there's the private life of the statesman, dominated by a rabid cross-dressing mother and torn romantically between a kind Quebec nurse and a female British soldier with heroic ambitions. Not to mention some quirky little fetishes... After his acclaimed Mynarski Death Spiral (2014) and The Tesla World Light Project (2017), Montrealer Matthew Rankin concocts a first feature where warped patriotism is cloaked in irresistible dialogue and visuals.
